

Being a truck driver, I can never receive real-time updates from local sources until I'm in the affected area. XM will let me know when I leave California heading for Boston what to expect when I get there, as well as ways to circumvent any weather-related problems for my target aarea